An orchestral transcription was played in Massey Hall under Mac Millan a few years ago, but we shirk the issue unless we deal with this monstrous creation as a piano sonata. The first three movements are magnificent, by general consent, and Mr. Kihl faithfully indicated the power of the Allegro, the point and vigor of the Scherzo, and the "eternal passion, eternal pain" of the profoundly moving Adagio. #### Next Prom Program

For the second concert in the new series of Promenade Symphony Concerts now under way at Varsity Arena the guest artist will be Efrem Zimbalist, world-famous violinist, who will play the Concerto in D Minor for violin and orchestra
 by Brahms and his own Fantasy on "Coq d'Or," by Rimsky Kors-koff. The other works selected by Reginald Stewart, conductor, for this concert are the Overture to
 "The Bartered Bride," by Smetana, and "Rhapsody Espagnol," by Chabrier.

In 1903 Zimbalist entered the Imperial Conservatory of Petrograd, where he studied under the famous Leopold Auer, and graduated from the conservatory with the highest honors, including the coveted Anton Rubinstein prize of one thousand gold roubles. Making his debut in Berlin when he was 18 years old, he was acclaimed in that same season as one of the greatest of the younger violinists of the day.
 He came to the United States in 1911, where he appeared for the first time as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Since then Zimbalist has been heard in practically every country in the world. During one period of thirteen months he covered over fifty thousand miles in a tour of Australia, China, Japan, India and a return visit to Australia before crossing Europe and returning to this continent. He has also been guest artist with most of the greater symphony orchestras of the world.

Summer courses in acting and dramatic production will be given at the Little Theatre, Bath, from July 28 to Aug. 11, and from Aug.
 25 to Sept. 8.

The Junion Vogt Society presented a very interesting program at the Heliconian Club last week, comprising original works by these seven young Canadian composers: Walter MacNutt, Donald Ryerson, Godfrey Ridout, Frances Campbell, Louis Applebaum, Margaret Robinson, and Eldon Rathburn. The comment of Ewart Walker, President of the older Vogt Society, is worth quoting. After hearing the program, he remarked on two outstanding points: first, the style of each composer was individual; and, secondly, their work showed what can be done that is entirely new. A penetrating and gratifying tribute.

This department's representative found last Saturday night's Recital

Many Parts of Canada Contribute to Demonstration At Margaret Eaton School

Gymnastic Physical Education and Clever Dance Numbers Delight Representative Audience

FENCING GAY FEATURE

Fifty-two girls from many parts of Canada, dressed in smart abbreviated black and white uniforms, opened the annual demonstration of Physical Education of Margaret Eaton School last night with the singing of "O Canada." The demonstration, held in the gymnasium, was under the direction of Miss Florence A. Somers, Miss Elizabeth Wardley, Miss Dorothy Jackson, Miss Marion Hobday, Miss Mildred Wickson and Miss Dorothy Pratt.

Parents and guests of the students filled to overflowing the hall, and enthusiastically applauded their feats and skill. The well-arranged program began with a group of English country dancers by the junior students and proceeded with an exhibition of gymnastics in which the seniors joined, using their apparatus. The audience held its breath while the able performers nimbly swung from the suspended rings, turned somersaults in the air, hung upside down, and with accurate timing leaped the mechanical horse, turning their bodies in the air.

Unusual was the display of fencing. The students showed the various positions used in this art, which teaches poise and infinite grace. They then held a three-point bout in which winners were declared. An exhibition game of badminton was played illustrating the great amount of exercise this game includes. A skilled performance of tap dancing was shown followed by a round dance, a chorus, entitled "Five Pleasant People," a symbolic dance called, "The Strike," and concluding with a picturesque choral.

Suggestions for any recreational evening were enacted, including a social mixer, a ball-passing game, a square dance and a musical game, as well as some more well-executed stunts. In conclusion, four distinctly different types of folk dancing were shown, bringing out the co-ordination, grace, skill and poise which the

SELFISH ATTITUDE BAD FOR CANADA

Margaret Eaton School
Graduates Urged to Be
Citizens of World

That this Dominion, by adhering to a policy of "Canada for Canadians," shutting its doors to fine men and women from persecuted countries of Europe, "is guilty of national selfishness that in its own way is just about as dangerous to our moral existence as is the blatant, strident nationalism that exists in some countries of Europe," was a warning sounded by Mr. Joseph McCulley, headmaster of Picering College, speaking at the Commencement exercises, Margaret Eaton school. Nationalism and racialism rampant in Europe, sometimes described as "man's other religion" and "which denies to other nationalities virtues possessed by itself," is a development of recent years, and is pernicious to the wholesome life of world society, he had previously declared.

"I do not believe that there was ever in human history so many people from so many places fleeing from persecution, racial, political, religious," he declared. People who have the courage to make their escape from intolerable conditions are most likely to appreciate benefits of a democratic country like Canada, and the few refugees who have been admitted thus far have created a favorable impression, he maintained.

Addressing the graduates, he urged them as young people about to enter the arena of life to face the fact squarely that "the world is a difficult place—not less challenging on that account—but inspiring you to put forward your best efforts in the hope that the younger generation may succeed where the older ones have failed." He begged them to hold fast to the ideals of democracy and work in a spirit of co-operation toward the goal of world fellowship which, he said, had been the vision of man since the dawn of civilization.

The music club sang delightful choral numbers and Miss Florence A. Somers, director of the school, presented diplomas to graduates, who, at the opening of the ceremony, made a striking picture in their long, graceful, white gowns, and bouquets of red roses. An interesting touch of color was added by the

the situation is of distinguished beauty with its hundred acres of grounds, surrounded by wide lawns, fine trees and ornamental shrubs. Trafalgar Castle, the building, is a fine example of English architecture and has extraordinary charm. It is situated about two miles from Toronto, on the Queen's Highway, overlooking the town of Ancaster and Lake Ontario and affording every advantage of the city in its proximity to plays, concerts and art galleries, with the absence of trivial distractions and the wholesome freedom of a rural environment.

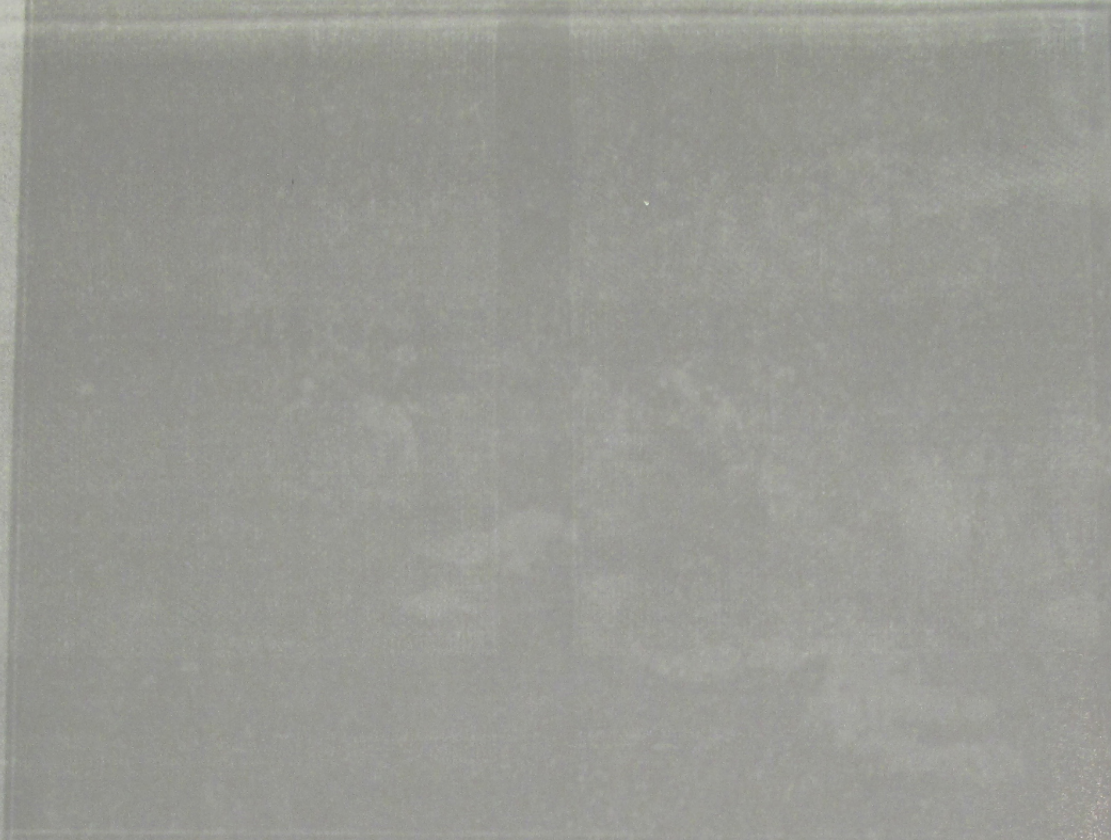

It is open to both a junior and a senior department and offers a great variety of courses, including collegiate, music—in connection with the Toronto Conservatory of Music, household science, secretarial training, athletics. Partial and elective courses may also be chosen.

In the collegiate department the Ontario Ladies' College is one of the schools accredited by the Canadian universities.

At present, the work of the college has been outstanding and such names as Mr. Manly, McGillivray-Knowles, Mr. McGillivray and T. G. Greene are found among its past teachers. The recognition of the quality of work in the art department and of its facilities as a centre for the teaching of the art has resulted in a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, New York, as given to the Ontario Ladies' College, a grant of art-teaching equipment including a fine library of books and nine hundred prints, photographs and coloured reproductions. This gift is of great value to the department of the school.

It has always been an important part of the school's work. The late Dr. F. H. Torring-

The Margaret Eaton School, Toronto

To a great many persons, a physical education course means merely classes in gymnastics, folk dancing and games. It is that and a great deal more. Students who take the two-year normal course in physical education at The Margaret Eaton School are trained not only in their own performance of the different systems of gymnastics, the various forms of dancing and many organized games and sports, but also in the theoretical background of the work and more especially in the educational foundation of teacher training. During their senior year, through the permission of the Board of Education the students teach regular weekly classes in the public schools of Toronto, they referee basketball games in the church and other leagues and they do considerable volunteer work in various organizations in the city. It may be a class of little boys at one of the settlements that they teach, or a group at one of the Home and School Club meetings that they lead in recreation. The practical experience they obtain in this way gives them confidence when they afterwards get positions as instructors in physical education or recreation leaders.

The month of September each year is spent at camp where the students get special training to fit them for positions as camp counsellors, but this month in the open also makes an inspiring beginning for the year's work as they all work and play together in the beautiful surroundings of the north country. This year The Margaret Eaton School will again be in session at Camp Tanamakoon in Algonquin Park, Ontario.

AUTHOR REFUGEE TO SPEAK HERE

Erika Mann Person
of Many-Sided Life
WIFE OF W. H. AUDEN

Erika Mann, actress, author and refugee, who gave up theatrical ambitions to fight dictatorship, will speak in the Holy Blossom Men's Club Forum series of lectures, Jan. 15. Daughter of the celebrated Thomas Mann, and author of "School for Barbarians" and "Escape to Life," Erika Mann is the wife of the British poet W. H. Auden. Six years ago she and her brother, Klaus, left Germany voluntarily when Adolf Hitler took power. She returned once, wearing a peasant dress and smoked glasses, to rescue her father's manuscript, "Joseph and His Brethren."

Erika Mann gave up leisure time activities of skiing, swimming, car-racing and cooking Bavarian dishes to work against Nazism, displeased the Nazis and fled Germany. She has returned to the United States after spending the summer of 1939 in Europe gathering fresh material for her present series of lectures. She and her brother, Klaus, are working on a new book "Are the Germans Nazis?"

Miss Mann's first husband was an official of the Nazi party. For driving a racing car 10,000 miles over Europe in six days Miss Mann was given a car by Henry Ford for her achievement. Her lecture in Toronto will be entitled "School for Barbarians." Many refugees from Ontario points are planning to come to Toronto for the lecture.

Duchess of Kent Is Chosen As Type of 1940 Glamour Because of Ladylike Style

YULE FESTIVAL SETTING HARBORD COLLEGIATE

In spite of its lovely and appropriate setting, the space available at the Art Gallery of Toronto was found to be inadequate to the large number of people who wish to attend the Christmas Music Festival of the Toronto Council of Friendship. Board of Education has kindly given permission to hold it in the auditorium of Harbord Street Collegiate, Thursday evening.

Christmas customs, music and the national dress of countries all over the world will be presented by "new Canadians" who have brought from their respective homelands these gifts to weave into the cultural life of Canada.

Physical Education Up-to-Date Program

Miss Marjorie Hillas of Teachers' College, Columbia University, and a camp program director of wide experience, will speak on "Camping Through the Eyes of the Counselor" at the eighth annual Alumnae Refresher Course in physical education, being held Dec. 27-29, at the Margaret Eaton School, 415 Yonge Street. Miss Alison McCann, who was guest speaker and song leader at the Ontario Camping Association convention last spring, will discuss organization of parties and music for camps.

Miss Mary Edgar will be chairman of the sessions, highlight of which is the camping meeting on Friday. The course, which last year was attended by about eighty teachers of physical education, is open to any one interested. It includes basketball, badminton, tap and folk dancing, recreational activities, as well as modern and social dancing, and swimming. For those taking the latter instruction, medical certificate is required.

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—The new type of glamour, 1940—how will it differ from 1939? And who will typify it? The answer, to several experts, is Britain's Duchess of Kent. Here are some of the about the new type: M. (Paris designer responsible wasp waist and back-movement): "She'll look goddess but she'll know a swears."

Gilbert Bundy (illustrator): "She'll be individual—a mixture of Scarlett O'Hara and a million. Scarlett without the per. When she chooses a has herself well in hand."

Lura De Gez (New York stylist): "She'll have a look as if she had just love the night before."

Tony Sarg (illustrator): "She'll be a full-fledged lady and society. The Duchess fills the bill."

Dean Cornwall (illustrator): "She'll have a figure with nice long straight lines. And she'll be bursting with Medium height, well-rounded with good hard flesh and all co-ordinated."

Valentina (American designer): "She will be the revival of Belle Dame, representing background plus individual elegance. Yes, I'd nominate the Duchess of Kent, too."

Specifications: Here's a posite view of the girl: about five feet seven. (More than before, perhaps even a bit shorter.) Slender but rounded body; average 120 pounds; bust, 34-35; waist, 27; hips about 35; skin glowing, preferably ivory with a rosy tinge; hair, red-heads and brunettes. Into the picture for a (Black was the color last year). Eyebrows, completely (Last years were thin and red). Eyelashes long and flicker provocatively.

Mr. J. J. Guittart of Windsor is spending the holiday season with his sister, Mrs. L. P. Tischart, Sherbourne Street.

LELONG MODEL ROBE

A fully choral wedding service took place in Grace Church-on-the-Hill last evening, when Miss Jean Ernesta Hiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hiller, was married to Mr. James Neil Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. MacKendrick Gordon. Rev. John L. Dixon performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Hugh Bedford Jones, and Mr. Langlois was at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original Lelong model of white Chantilly lace, fashioned with Victorian drop shoulders and long tight sleeves coming to points over her hands. The full skirt fell from the tight waist and swept into a train of lace and net. Her long tulle veil was caught with a coronet of white leaves and pearls and she carried a prayer book and lily-of-the-valley. Her only ornament was an old Spanish cross, the gift of her father. Miss Sheila Hiller was her sister's attendant. She wore a gown with a full skirt of white tulle and bodice of silver tulle. In her head she wore a shirred coronet of silver tulle and carried a bouquet of poinsettia red carnations. Mr. Hume Douglas was groomsmen, and the ushers were Mr. Scott Lynn, Mr. Jim Row, Mr. John Ross and Mr. John Mingle.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Hiller was gowned in an original hanel model of black net and tulle, with short ermine jacket and hat of net trimmed with osprey. Her corsage was white orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace embroidered with silver and corsage of gardenias.

For going away, the bride changed into a pale blue wool dress, topcoat of matador red trimmed with mink, matching muff and red hat, black accessories and corsage of green orchids.

Y.W.C.A. Physical Directors Meet In Health Program Conference

Attended by Y.W.C.A. physical directors from many cities in Canada, a supper meeting, followed by discussion, was held at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday evening, with Miss Edna Guest, O.B.E., presiding. Greetings from Calcutta Y.W.C.A. were given by Miss Mabel Rae, general secretary, who is spending a furlough in Canada, and Mrs. G. M. Robertson of Tasmania, a former Y.W.C.A. secretary in Victoria. Miss Rae spoke of the contribution made to India by the Canadian "Y" in sending such excellent physical directors as Miss Margaret Burton, Miss Kitty Pepler, and Miss Erma Moye, also in making possible for India a school for the training of physical directors.

Miss Barbara Claxton led in songs, new and old, previous to speeches. Miss Isabel McEltheran spoke briefly of the equipment and programs in the Y.W.C.A. health department, in Eastern and Western Canada.

Leading the discussion on the health education department of the Y.W.C.A. during war years, Miss Erma Hayes referred to the responsibility of the association in providing additional recreation and relaxation for those affected by the war. An out-of-town member told of efforts being made to provide recreation for girls working on shifts on wartime contracts.

Miss Vernona Brigden, Kitchener, was in charge of the question box, through which such questions as the relationship of the Y.W.C.A. to the community and other similar movements were dealt with. Miss Louise Gates addressed herself to the relationship of the health education department to the whole Y.W.C.A. "We need young, new committee and board members," she said, "and through your department splendid training can be accomplished."

A committee consisting of Miss Erma Hayes, Toronto; Miss Helene Mackey, Montreal; Miss Margaret Dunning, Hamilton, and Miss

Patty Sterne, St. Thomas, was formed to consider revision of the existing set-up of the Leaders' Corps program.

Others present at the short, important conference included: Mrs. Harvey Agnew, Mrs. Harold Clarke, Miss Edna Atkins, Mrs. A. K. Whyte, Miss Florence A. Somers, Miss Olive M. Bettle, Miss Eva Coon, Miss Margaret Quence, Toronto; Miss Doris Campbell, Kirkland Lake; Miss Helen Hurd, Montreal; Miss C. Littlefield, Peterborough; Miss Grace Richer, St. Catharines; Miss Dorothy Cameron, Fredericton; Miss Margaret Ross, Woodstock; Miss Jean Mooney, Moncton; Miss Hilda Smith, Sarnia; Miss Flora Secord, Quebec; Miss Jean Sutton, Winnipeg; Miss Marjorie Martin, Hamilton, and Miss Jerene Malcolm, Paris.
